

RULES FOR MEETING THE REQUIREMENTS OF BEING AN EARLY CAREER SCIENTIST

- Candidates are eligible up until the tenth anniversary of the award of their PhD, and assessment for this award will be based on work published during this ten year period.
- Candidates without a PhD must be 35 years old or under on 31 January 2016.
- Appropriate consideration will be given to candidates who have taken career breaks or followed different study paths.
- In the case of posters with multiple authors, the early career scientist must be attending the workshop.